Cargill Update:

A small stand-alone building at our protein facility in Dodge City, KS experienced an explosion this morning. Two employees are receiving medical treatment for burns and we are investigating the cause of the accident. As an extra precaution, some shifts have been suspended today while fabrication shifts remain on schedule. We expect to be fully operational soon and will meet all our customer commitments.

We are grateful for the partnership of the local emergency medical response team. Our focus is on the safety of our employees and getting the best care for our colleagues.
